Run to Pavilion for crazy time

FOR those of you who appreciate the old as well as the new and enjoy the entertainment of times gone by, there is no better show this season than the Flanagan and Allen Story.

It is full of old favourites that made the pair famous, songs like Underneath the Arches, Maybe It's Because I'm a Londoner and, of course, Run Rabbit Run.

It peels back the theatrical scene some 50 years to meet once again those loveable comedians, the Crazy Gang.

Starting with Flanagan's stage debut as a boy in 1908, the show takes us right through to 1968, when Britain's Favourite Pensioners took their final bow.

Johnny Barrs, who wrote the script, makes a convincing Flanagan and is backed up with an equally talented Allen, played by Colin Bower.

It plays at Worthing's Pavilion Theatre on September 8. Call 01903 206206.
